INTRODUCTION

This bulletin is planned to serve as a clearing house for coin dealers under a system giving each dealer access to the stock of all other subscribing dealers with definite profit to both. One dealer has the buyer and another has the coin or coins for sale, while prospective buyers can see the value trend of various coins and place orders with a subscribing dealer to purchase any coin described in this bulletin at price indicated.

Dealers will note coins are listed with listing dealers shown by key numbers only. The name and address of selling dealer is shown on a key card sent to subscribing dealers so buying dealers may know with whom they should correspond regarding coin or coins. This plan permits two dealers to negotiate with each other with no one else coming into the picture while no dealer reveals name or names of his customers to other dealer or dealers. No one has such information except the interested buying dealer acting for his unknown client. Therefore the business contacts of buying dealer is in no sense jeopardized by the system, but on the contrary each subscriber has his stock of coins presented to many prospective buyers at relatively little cost, when such coins are listed and priced in this Bulletin.

Coins selling freely in one section but lying dormant in another, can be put in touch with an active demand and be brought to the attention of prospective buyers in a positive way again and again.

Dealers should study the Bulletin regularly and thus keep in touch with current prices as well as the available stocks held by other dealers. At the same time collectors are able to locate coins needed by them at proper prices. Collectors can also list their duplicate coins through a registered dealer by assuming cost of listing the coins and agreeing to pay the established brokerages incidental to resulting sales.

All coins must be paid for before shipment, but with privilege of examination and return if condition not satisfactory. Refund will be made promptly, on return of same coins in good condition.

When amounts involved are large enough to justify such precaution, both parties may indicate an Umpire to hold cash involved for ten days before turning proceeds over to seller. In such event any cost fee to be shared equally by both parties. No purchase of less than $5.00, will be accepted, and on purchases of less than $10.00, 25c postage must be added to remittance, to cover incidental costs of shipping.

All prices are listed as probable values. Reasonable offers will receive earnest consideration but no commissions will be paid on coins sold on bids or net offers unless commission specifically agreed upon between negotiating dealers.

As already explained the Index key will be furnished registered dealers showing discounts applicable to quoted prices, when coin lists are received with remittance to cover cost of listing.

Ten lines (6 words to line) $2.50 which includes 100 copies for private circulation with dealers name imprinted on back page, plus Index key and commission symbols for direct correspondence with other dealers. Every ten line additional listing $2.00 per insertion, and 100 additional copies. All extra copies over first 200—$1.00 per hundred.

COPY SLIP

SAMPLE PROOF submitted for criticism of prices shown.

We plan to go to press with new material shortly but before doing so, suggestions will be appreciated. We also invite listing of coins you have for sale under conditions indicated in the bulletin. Send these bulletins to your customers with your imprint as registered dealer on back thereof. Others are doing it, why not you? Let us test the plan in the hope it will activate the coin market on a higher price level than now prevailing.

Owing to paper and other shortages only a limited number of dealers can be registered and protected on present insertion charges, so let us hear from you while space is still available. Thanks.

THE INDEX PLAN FOR PRICING THE DOLLAR

By

JAMES ALFRED ROSS
A.N.A. 8889

Mr. Ross has propounded a plan for solving many of our inflationary problems which is so simple, and so practical in its application, that one is compelled to wonder why it has not long since become a permanent factor in national finance.

THE INDEX PLAN is so concise, so practical, so much the result of straight analytical thinking, and so lacking in the involved, tortuous, bombastic processes employed in the political web-spinning of those who have heretofore sought to stabilize the buying power of the dollar, that perhaps its very simplicity and practicality have caused it to be overlooked in the melee.

Every banker, every financier, every AMERICAN who has any interest in the future financial security of America should carefully read and digest THE INDEX PLAN. It is not just the outpourings of another "crank"—it is straight-from-the-shoulder common sense.

If you like to weigh new ideas enclose one dollar with your card or head, at our risk. A copy of "The Plan" will be mailed promptly.

All remittances for coin listing and dealer registration should be sent direct to
